When dusk falls and the station-keeper settles down for the night's business, offenders of many stripes of iniquity hang upon the brass railing in front of the desk, for it is at night that the police are busiest. Sin likes

Perhaps it will be a cowardly, sullen-looking wife bester who will first appear before the stern man who sits behind the railing and enters up the pedigree of the prisoner on the register. These men sometimes persist in abusing the officers who arrested them, as indeed do nearly all who are hauled to the six-

"I'll have you up before the board for being too rough," is the frequent and empty threat to the officers. This cry comes from nearly all. Then they show a sudden stubborn determination not to be placed in a cell, and force necessarily must be used to untwist the firm grip about the railing.

However, the searcher goes right ahead, while a look of intense disgust and displeature darkeas the face of the prisoner. Often it happens that the latter will hand out his belongings readily. Few are willing to part with their watch and money, which is retained at the desk for safekeeping.

The charges which most frequently appear on the police blotter are assault and bairery, disorderly conduct, drankenness, suspiciou, and allray. Blear-eyed men helplessly intexicated will often be carried into a station bodily and cast link a cell to solve up. Here

CRIME IN PENSION CLAIMS

Many Curious Attempts Made to Defraud the Government.

TRICKS OF CLEVER CRIMINALS

Attorneys Who Charge Excessive Fees and Frands Who Impersonate Pensioners-Remarkable Careers of Crooks with Whom the Pension Bureau Officials Have to Deal.

[WRITTEN EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE TIMES.] The Pension Office is a vast establishment, and it is not strange that out of more than a million claims flied before it some bear the taint of crime. I was talking recently with one connected with its criminal affairs, and was not a little surprised at the extent and variety of crimes perpetrated in connection with the pension business. "We have had a busy year," said he, "in making up cases for the courts, with fine success in landing our fish. Many convictions have been secured and a large number of indictments stand over for future trial. The mills of the gods have been grinding exceedingly flue during the past year. There has been a large grist-Norfolk, Baltimore, Chattanooga, Nashville, Vicksburg, New Orleans, and various other places east and west have contributed to the doomsday record.

"If anybody tells you this administration and was quite palabilly and pechaps seriously winks at crime, just take that statement with a large grain of allowance. It seems to have become fashionable to decry the Pension Bureau, but if the outside world could know the inside history of the determined effort to raid the Treasury, and of the faithful and painstaking work of the Pension Office to uphold the law and purify the atmosphere, the public, and especially the genuine old soldier, would recognize the Bureau as a real friend. "The offenses are el various kinds, from the post-dating of vouchers to lorgeries pure and simple. Of course these convic-tions represent but a part of the criminal charges investigated, but we use a wise discharges investigated, but we use a wise dis-cretion in the matter, siming to prosecute when necessary, but nover to persecute. I use the latter word advisedly, because fre-quently, while there is a technical violation of the law, attendant circumstances preclude the thought of criminal intent. Yet crime ex-ists in connection with this business, and you would be supprised at the character of some would be surprised at the character of some would be surprised at the character of some of the persons implicated.

"What's that, many attorneys prosecuted? Well, for a while there was a failing off of that kind of business, but of late it is looking up considerably. You know the statute fixes the fees, which in no case exceed $25, and to contract for, demand, or receive a greater sum, either directly or indirectly, is an offense on the part of any person instrumental in the prosecution of the claim.

"This instrumentality has been fully defined by the courts, and it catches many who think that since they are not attorneys of rec-fined by the cours, and it catches many who think that since they are not attorneys of record in the claim they can charge such fees as they like. In such cases the charge depends upon the 'conscience' of the 'person' and the size of the stake, varying from $50 to $1,000. But they are learning, by painfully convincing lessons, that their sins will find them out.

"Many resort to indirect methods to secure excessive fees. Sometimes it is in the shape of a 'present' to the attorney, or to his wife, and they are surprised to hear that they are forbidden to accept such presents; and yet forbidden to accept such presents; and yet the courts have declared that no ingenuity of the person can avail to outwit the law. Son the person can avail to only it he law. In the United States there are millions of Oermans who have become merged with the six months, is especially vulnerable, and it English in a single generation—States of the Pacific where English is rapidly driving out the native dialects. Even in Japan the English language has been recognized as a semilibuting to cover short contracts. There is a suspicion, that under cover of the attack lish language has been recognized as a semi-official one and is the one selected for inter-course with foreigners.

The rapid spread of English is largely to be attributed to the simplicity of its grammar, which is less complicated than that of any other Western nation. Its mar, ed poverty of inflections, as distinguished, for example, from the German, is a great point in its favor, and thus it is much easier for a German to learn English than for an Englishman or American to learn German. American to learn German

On the other hand, the extraordinary ortho-graphic inconsistency of the English language is a decided drawback, and there is little doubt that if English were written on phonetic principles, as Spanish or German, its spread would be much more rapid, to say nothing of the great boon this would be to the Angio-Saxons themselves, who spend years of un-necessary toll in learning to read and write their own language.

It is likely, however, that any change in

It is likely, however, that any change in this respect must be looked for in America, where a few innovations have been already introduced. English speakers may be di-vided into four great branches, as follows: (1) the European, (2) the American, (3) the South African, (4) the Australasium. Each of these branches has its peculiarities and the

of these branches has its peculiarities and the divergence between the four is becoming more marked every year.

Of the extra-European branches American, nithough the oldest, has diverged least from the parent system. It is surprising what a number of American words have been introduced into England, many of which are now considered indigenous to the soil. A large portion of the slang spoken by the middle class in England may also be said to have an American origin.

Stock—Some Advance in Wheeling and Lake Erie—General Reaction Caused by the Bear Raid—Quotations Closed Firm.

New York, Nov. 3.—The trading on the stock exchange to-day was very light, New Jersey Central being the only stock in which the dealings were at all active. It was the speculative feature and was hammered down by the bears with a persistency that led to the liquidation of some long stock and broke the liquidation of some long stock and broke the price 2½ per cent. from the opening, which was ½ higher than last night's closing figures. The position of this stock, in view of the fact that it has not earned a divident for the past six months, is especially vulnerable, and it was without support to-day except for some small buying to cover short contracts. There is a suspicion, that under cover of the attack on New Jersey Central, the shorts took in 30 akad. Bank Norkis—Bank of Washington 300 bid. Washington Market Company imp. 68, 100 bid. is a suspicion, that under cover of the attack on New Jersey Central, the shorts took in outstanding contracts in other shares which had receded in sympathy in this stock.

At the opening the general market was firm but extremely duil. The only stock which made any material advance was Wheeling and Lake Eric, which rose 15. A few fractional gains were made, including $\frac{\pi}{2}$ in Delaware and Hudson and $\frac{\pi}{2}$ in Sugar and Pacific Mail, when the raid made on New Jersey Central caused a general reaction, Delaware and Hudson seiling off $\frac{\pi}{2}$, and the rest of the list traded in $\frac{\pi}{2}$, per cent. In small covering a raily took place about 11 o'clock, which did not exceed $\frac{\pi}{2}$ per cent, except in Alton and Terre Hante and St. Paul and Omahay which moved up 11% and 15, respectively.

In the last half hour of hasics. which moved up 1½ and 1½, respectively.

In the last half hour of business Oregon Improvement aropped 2½ and Reading and Sugar receded ½, while New Jersey Central railied ½, the general market being well held rained %, the general market being well field and closing firm. In most cases the last prices made are a fraction higher than the final figures of yesterday, and St. Paul and Omaha is 1%, and Wheeling and Lake Eric preferred, 1% per cent, higher. The grangers show a gain of 3,3%, the latter Rock Island, The only material losses are 1 per cent, in Delaware & Hudson, 11% in New Jersey Con-

What Irrigation Will Do.

The arid district of the United States comprises the whole of the country lying west of prises the whole of the country lying west of the 98th meridian, with the exception of northern California and the portions of Ovegon and Washington west of the Cascade range. Seventeen States and Territories its wholly or in part within its confines, which embrace two-fifths of the national domain.

This wast tract of desert it is proposed to render fruitful by irrigation. Irrigation is as old as civilization lisself. In Egypt there are farms still yielding an abundant crop which have been irrigated for $4.00 years or more. The Pinns Indians, in Arizona, have entitivated their farms in this manner for 500 years, and rains of stone aquaduots are numerous in the old world and the new which have, in the past, been utilized for the watering of arid lands.

Indeed, the irrigated farm never suffers from the drought, and it is estimated that 18,000,000 of people on earth to-day live upon

18,000,000 of people on earth to-day ive upon the produce of freigited farms. This is be-lieved to be the factor which will make valu-able the vast arid region of our constnent. Trials have aircady been made of it with as-tonishing results, the valleys of Armona blessoming with a luxuriant growth where there tonishing results, the sinicy of Arisona recessoring with a insurfant growth where there was a scant substance before, while the parts of Colorado which are trrigated support a thrifty population of farmers.

Irrigation, while as old as civilization, has been practiced but twenty-live years in this country. The cost of Irrigation is very great, but the increased value of lends is simply predigious. The lussions fruits grown on these lands are so abundant as to make a handsome profit for the farmer, even at prices that make it possible to sell in competition with the most distant markets.

The first shipment of California fruit recently arrived in London and was traesported thus a third of the way around the world to open up new fields for conquest.

Truly the arid land will yet be the paradise toward which the farmer that has let New England desoiate will turn in search of England desolate will turn in search
